Santa's New Idea
Said Santa Claus
One winter's night,
'I really think it's only right
That gifts should have a little say
'Bout where they'll be on Christmas
Day.'
So then and there
He called the toys
Intended for good girls and boys,
And when they'd settled down to hear,
He made his plan for them quite clear.
These were his words:
'Soon now,' he said,
'You'll all be speeding off with me
To being the Christmas joy and cheer
To little ones both far and near.
'Here's my idea,
It seems but fair

That you should each one have a share
In choosing homes where you will stay
On and after Christmas Day.
'Now the next weeks
Before we go
Over the miles of glistening snow
Find out the tots that you like best
And think much nicer than the rest.'
The toys called out
'Hurrah! Hurrah!
What fun to live always and play
With folks we choose - they'll surely be
Selected very carefully.'
So, children dear,
When you do see
Your toys in socks or on a tree,
You'll know in all the world 'twas you
They wanted to be given to.

From the Editors

Well, here we are for the final time. We're delighted to be able to tell you that Barbara Strouts has offered to take on the role of editor from now on. Barbara will be supported by Kevin Newstead, the chairman of the Messenger Group. We shall of course pass on our contact list to Barbara, but should you wish to contact her, the email address is below and her phone number is 01561 320911.

We have enjoyed our two years at the helm, some editions have been more interesting than others, we have to depend on all of you to submit your news. There are, of course, times of year when not too much is happening.

Christmas is almost with us once again, don't the years go past more quickly now—or is that a sign of growing older? We'd like to wish you all a very Happy Christmas and send all good wishes for the coming year.

We'd also like to wish Barbara all the best in her new venture, we'll enjoy reading the "Messenger" instead of putting it together! Thank you for your support over the past 2 years.

Susie and Annie.

The Bruce Fountain

To mark the centenary of the Bruce Fountain in The Square, Auchenblae Community Association and Auchenblae Parks Committee, joined forces to fund its restoration.

A little bit of history! In 1835, an Alexander Bruce was publican at the Kintore Arms Inn (The Drum) where, it was said he ran "a hospitable house from which no one was allowed to depart with dry meal in his stomach". It is claimed he was the instigator of the "Braes of Fordoun", a horse drawn carriage which ran from Aberdeen via Stonehaven and Drumlithie to Auchenblae, with its stopping off point in front of the Kintore, of course! Although this particular enterprise was short lived, Alexander goes down in history as having maintained a vital link between Auchenblae and the outside world when he "placed an omnibus for passengers, on the road betwixt the village and Fordoun Railway Station".

Now to the man himself: Robert Bruce, son of the above, was an auctioneer, an invaluable profession within the community in those days when estate land was being measured and rentals valued. In a voluntary capacity, he served this community as secretary on the 1869 founding Committee of the Public Hall; a position he held for more than thirty years. In the village plan of 1893 he is now listed as the feuar of the hotel. In his will Robert left funds to erect a drinking fountain as near to the 'Kintore' as possible. The unveiling ceremony took place in 1910 with Mr. Alexander Fotheringham, Chairman of the Parish Council officiating. This gentleman has a tangible connection today as he was great grandfather to our own Kay Watson (nee Fotheringham). At the unveiling, you'll notice amongst other changes, a grocer's shop at the corner of Inverurie Street, the open gutters and no telephone box! The spacious area around the fountain itself is a legacy of a former way of life when the market square, with its common grazing land stretching up to Inverurie Street, lay in the heart of the village.

AUCHENBLAE HERITAGE SOCIETY

School Archive

As a joint project between the Auchenblae Primary School and the Heritage Society, a request goes out to former pupils of the school to remember their school days. It might be how a certain teacher taught, or how did you get to and from school, playground activities, sports, the 3 Rs, writing skills, spelling, mental arithmetic, the belt, tables etc etc? Old school photos, which would be scanned and returned, would also be greatly appreciated.

Anyone wanting to help build up this vital archive of Auchenblae's schooldays, should, in the first instance, contact one of the Auchenblae committee members - Sheena Auld, Pat Mennie, Gillian Siddens, Jenny Thompson and myself as Chairman. Thanking you in anticipation.

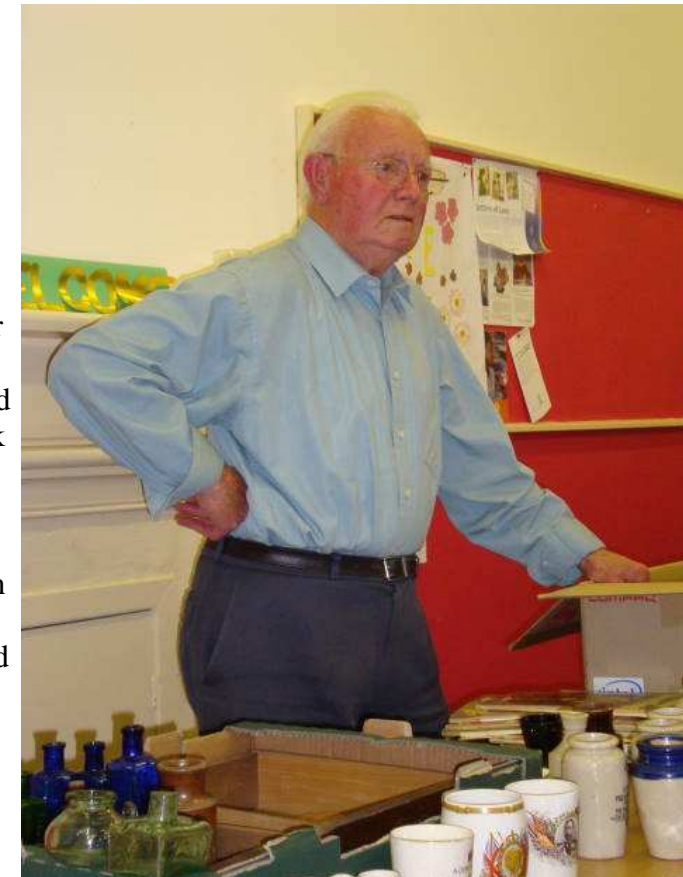

Tom Welsh

The talk given by Tom Welsh on 6th September was a spectacular success. His stories of the village and its folk from a different era were remembered with clarity, humour and affection. Those in attendance, and there were many, enjoyed a memorable occasion, which, in retrospect, should have been recorded, as Tom says this was to be his last talk - let's hope not?

The Bell

The next meeting of the Heritage Society is on Monday 6th December, 7.30pm in the Church Hall where Auchenblae's very own historian, Jenny Thompson will show a video and talk about the build up to the village's Millenium Celebrations, with particular reference to preparing the church bell for ringing in the new century.

Barbara Strouts

The ravages of time resulted in several bits of the fountain disappearing. The central urn went missing, the sphere and pinnacle, as well as the four elaborate finials. No-one seemed to know what had happened to these 'bits' for many years, but one by one they eventually turned up in gardens or wherever and were given to me for safekeeping. In this year of the centenary, it seemed appropriate that an effort should be made to reinstate them.

Going by old postcards and photographs, we could see where the various pieces should be. Of the finials, only two badly damaged ones were ever found. To have new ones made was to prove too costly at £390 each! Added to that, it is no longer possible to get the same granite and the nearest match looked quite different. However, a new pinnacle was fashioned from the redundant remains so at least all material is still original.

To date, we haven't recovered the shallow brass cups we all drank from so freely and which, by today's standards, would pose a serious cross contamination epidemic, but somehow we all survived!

St Paldy’s Fair

Celebration matters.

In a time of civil war in Latin America refugee camps set up three committees: one to organise education, one to organise the sanitary arrangements, and one to organise the community celebrations. Our community life in Auchenblae and the area of Fordoun was greatly strengthened and enjoyed in our recent celebration of St Paldy's Fair. Together the Church, the Primary School, the Heritage Society, family and friends marked our history and heritage with a modern twist as young and old moved across the Kirkton of Fordoun between School and Church, Soup Kitchen and the site of the old school, now part of the Kirkyard. There was tasty soup (around 140 bowlfuls served up), fly cuppies with very fine pieces, a variety of market stalls, an historical exhibition on the old school site, workshops on traditional children's games, and the young people showed us what hope and joy we can take in the next generation with the pipes, a highland dance, a drama telling of the place of St Palladius in our history and faith in the Mearns, and the songs each class from Nursery to Primary 7 wrote and performed with the skilled help and fun of local singer/ songwriter Dave Ramsay - each song an immediate hit and classic. The children appeared to have great fun learning about school and games and faith and life in 'olden times' in the Kirkton of Fordoun that is now their place of school work and fun, faith and life today. Thanks are due to the very many people who played their part in enabling the hospitality, market place, history and entertainment of the Fair to take place - and the sun shone on us.

WEST MEARNS PARISH CHURCH

From: West Mearns Manse

Dear Friends,

Well another New Year’s resolution bites the dust – again! I have two goes at it; making the resolution that is. It’s on my list for January 1st as another year begins and I make it every first Sunday in Advent as the Church New Year begins. The resolution is: “start preparing for Christmas in August and avoid the last minute rush”. And have I done that this year?.....no.....sorry!

It’s not good enough to say I wasn’t in the mood mid-summer; it would not be true as I often find myself singing Christmas carols in July as I stop looking back to one Christmas and forward to the next. I could argue that August whizzed by so fast (like the rest of the year) that I blinked and missed it. It maybe has more to do with being shy of the question often posed by Jesus in his parables and teaching: “Are you ready?”

Are we ready to greet Jesus, the babe born homeless in Bethlehem, in all the homeless, the refugee Jesus fleeing Herod’s murderous rule in all refugees and asylum seekers, the carpenter Jesus in our work-mates and colleagues, the challenging Jesus in those who are different from us, the son and brother Jesus in our own families and communities, the loving Jesus, God with us, whoever we are wherever we are, whatever the date is or the season?

As once again Advent gives us a fresh opportunity to prepare for Christmas may we be ready this Christmas and every day to welcome the gift of God’s love in Jesus and to share that love with all who need it.

God bless you and yours;
God make your hearts bright and give you peace.

Catherine

Van Goch at the Paldy Fair

Two years after the small Kirkton of Fordoun school closed, Vincent Van Goch ws born (1853). The photograph shows a child's chalk drawing done on the blackboard which was part of the Heritage Society's Paldy Fair display of where the old school was in the kirkyard. The drawing is of Van Goch's final painting, "Field with Crows" and I'm sure Vincent would have been very pleased with the interpretation. Congratulations Molly!

AUCHENBLAE SURGERY

With the New Year just around the corner, it is always a good time to reflect on the year gone by.

We were all relieved at the beginning of the year to see that the impact of the swine flu pandemic was less than expected. This was at least in part due to the success of the National vaccination programme which was launched in 2009. We had a good uptake of the vaccination with most of the eligible patients receiving it.

In April, Kay Watson made the decision to leave the surgery for pastures new. Kay started work here in 1998 as receptionist and took over the position as Practice Manager when John Eddie retired in 2005. Kay’s wide range of knowledge and bubbly personality is greatly missed by staff and patients. I have now taken up the post with the impossible task of ‘filling her shoes’. But hopefully, with the continued support of a great team, the surgery will continue to move forward.

We also welcomed our two new receptionists to the team, Carole McRae who works mornings and Julie Colman, working in the afternoon. They have both settled in well and already feel like ‘old hands’.

In July, we were delighted to see the return of Dr Claire Lindsay. Claire was on maternity leave after giving birth to a beautiful bouncy baby boy in September 2009. Claire is currently working her usual sessions, Tuesday mornings and Friday afternoons, as well as covering Dr Pirie’s holiday and study leave.

In August, Dr Thomas Philip joined the surgery. Thomas is in his final year of GP training and works between the Auchenblae and Laurencekirk practices. He is already proving very popular with patients.

In September, we kick started our seasonal flu programme and the majority of patients have now received their vaccination. But for anyone who is pregnant, or suffers from any heart/lung problems or diabetes and has not yet received one then please contact the surgery to arrange an appointment with Carol, our Practice Nurse.

We have recently set up a new repeat prescription email service. Patients can now order repeat medications by email at: nhsg.auchenblaeprescription@nhs.net

Please ensure that your name, address, date of birth, name and strength of medication are on your email. You will then be sent an email as confirmation of receipt. Patients who do not have access to a computer can still order on our prescription line - 01561 321006.

We are currently working with NHS Grampian’s IT team to update our website and hopefully this will be up and running by the New Year. Patients will be able to keep up to date with what is going on within the surgery and there will be a chance for patients to express any opinions/ideas on how services might be improved.

In conjunction with this, we will be trying to restart our Patient Participation Group (PPG). These groups can benefit both patients and practice by creating a better connection between the practice and its patients. We hope it will encourage open, constructive discussion and analysis of the services we provide. Anyone who is interested in participating and would like more information, please get in touch.

And finally, we will be closed on Monday 27th and Tuesday 28th December and then on Monday 3rd and Tuesday 4th January. Patients who require urgent advice on these dates should contact NHS24 08454 242424.

We would all like to take this opportunity to wish everyone a very merry Christmas and a happy and healthy New Year.

Gillian Salter
Practice Manager

Church Fabric Fund

It is now just over a year since we started the coffee mornings in aid of the Church Fabric Fund and what a success it has been . In that time we have raised to date £2911.65 which goes to show how generous people have been at putting their hands in their pockets. I would like to say a big thank you to everybody that has supported this cause especially to the people that have held coffee mornings in their homes, some times at short notice and on some of the most miserable of days, and to the people who have contributed in the way of baking, raffle prizes and books for our book stall. There is a lot of time and effort put into it and I really appreciate the people that have given up their free time to do this. I hope that long and continued support will carry on. Our next coffee morning will be at Jenny Thomson's on 11th Dec ember. All welcome.

We have had a successful start to the new season of Guild meetings. We have a number of different speakers lined up this year and meetings will be very enjoyable, as usual.

The Guild Christmas Party will be held on Wednesday 8th December in the Crown hotel, Laurencekirk.

Another important date is Friday 10th December when we hold our annual Carols, Candles and Christmas Pies celebration. Numbers attending this event are increasing and it is so nice to see the children being brought along. This is a far from solemn celebration of Christmas and we cordially invite you all to attend. Refreshments will be served at the end of the service and will include Christmas pies.
